Rabbi's Column

There once was a fast-food chain that wanted to increase its sales of milkshakes. They tried out all the usual ideas – different advertising, change of package design, new flavors – to no avail. So, following the advice of Clayton Christensen, they approached the challenge by asking the question, “what is this milkshake being hired to do?” (I.e., what are consumers purchasing when they buy a milkshake, over and above the milkshake itself.)

The first step was to ask the question, who is buying the milkshakes, and they were startled to discover that most milkshakes were being sold between the hours of seven and nine in the morning, followed by three to six in the afternoon. Next step: find out who these morning and afternoon customers were – and why they were buying milkshakes at what seemed to be odd times. It turned out that most of the morning consumers were commuters with a 30-minute or more commute, and the afternoon purchasers were parents picking up their children after school.

So what were the milkshakes being “hired” to do? The morning consumers saw the milkshake as keeping them company during their long commute, and what would be even better would be if it were to last longer. The company introduced a thicker formula, and morning sales improved. The afternoon purchasers saw the milkshake as something that could tide their children up until dinner, and what would be better would be a smaller portion, so that their kids’ appetites wouldn’t be spoiled. The company introduced a smaller “child’s” portion.

Recently, with an eye towards ensuring quality of service, I asked the regular members of the minyan what they were hiring the service to do. And the answers surprised me. I would have thought that they would be looking for inspiration or learning, spirituality or meditation. What I instead found was that the regular members were more-or-less happy with the service as it was, no changes necessary. One reason they came was to feel the sense of achievement that one feels after fulfilling a commitment to attend something on a regular basis. For another, it reminded them of going to services with a grandparent, and the traditional Hebrew flow was calming and comforting. Yet another found community with the other regulars, and relished the opportunity be there to “make” a minyan for someone else to say kaddish.

So, I won’t be trying to advertise the minyan in new and exotic ways, or change the service into a meditation meeting or learning session. While recognizing that there is space within the service as it is for learning and meditation and spirituality, I will focus on the consistency that brings the comfort of the familiar.

If you were to be without something better to do on a Thursday morning, and happen to cross the lintel, you would be most welcome to join us in the ritual. But, in the rest of your life, in all your activities and investments of time and money, you may want to ask, “what am I hiring this experience to do, what is it doing for me?” Our time here is limited, so use it wisely.

B'Shalom,

Rabbi David Cantor

Atid - Future

Atid means "future" in Hebrew. As Women's League for Conservative Judaism enters its second century Torah Fund begins its 77th year and the State of Israel enters its 71st, we look forward with joy to our future together with you our sisterhood members and supporters of Torah Fund.

The following is an excerpt from Rabbi Artson's charge at the ordination of the Zigler School of Rabbinic Studies on May 7th of this year.

"Broader vision, strengthened relationships, rooting ourselves in sacred texts and transformational learning: these are the gifts that rabbis bring. These are the treasures that Judaism offers, both as remedy and antidote. These are the sources of resilience and healing that we and all humanity need in these trying times. In today's storm of alienation and loneliness, bigotry and fear-generated hate, the Torah takes a stand as a haven and as a lifesaver, a tree of life offering shade, shelter and nourishment to weather the storm."

Won't you take a stand! Won't you be a part of the larger congregation in support of TORAH FUND! This is your opportunity to insure the extraordinary educational facilities of the Conservative/Masorti movement continue to be available to all who will be the future leaders.

For more information feel free to call Ida Bobrow (714) 892-3403 or leave a message with the Temple office.

*B'Shalom,
Ida Z. Bobrow

TBS Book Club July Selection

The Jewish State by Theodor Herzl

In this 70th year of the modern State of Israel, your Book Club travels back to the beginning. Not the beginning of our people's history in the Land; not the beginning of the State; but the beginning of the Idea that the path from our collective dream to its realization could be a path of modern agitation, statecraft and ultimately statehood.

Join us to explore Herzl's idea in his own words – words that electrified the Jewish world when published in 1896. Then consider our own dreams for Israel today.

The book is available from Amazon and from Barnes & Noble online. The Dover Publications 1989 paperback edition includes a 30-page biography of Herzl by the late Israeli historian Alex Bein. The Jewish State does not appear to be available from local libraries.

Join us for dinner and a lively discussion on

Wednesday, July 11th at 6:30 pm.

Upcoming Classes with the Rabbi

Creating Caring Community – Four Lessons in Communal Kindness

In Hebrew, a synagogue is called a, a holy community. For guidance as to what that means, we can look to the Talmud (Sotah 14a):

Rabbi Hama said in the name of Rabbi Hanina: "Follow Adonai your God" (Deuteronomy 13:5): What does this mean? Is it possible for a mortal to follow God's presence? The verse means to teach us that we should follow the attributes of the Holy One. As God clothes the naked, you should clothe the naked. The Bible teaches that the Holy One visited the sick; you should visit the sick. The Holy One comforted those who mourned; you should comfort those who mourn. The Holy One buried the dead; you should bury the dead.

Thus summer, I would like to offer four opportunities to learn to be like the Holy One of Israel, who visits the sick, comforts the bereaved, and buries the dead:

K'vod Hamet: A Guide for the Bereaved

Two guiding principles inform all Jewish rituals related to death and mourning, namely k'vod hamet (respect for the dead) and nichum avelim (consoling the mourners). Using these two principles as reference points, on Thursday, July 12, 2018, at 7:00 PM we will explain the Jewish customs regarding burial and funeral preparations, grieving, and accepting comfort.

Chesed Shel Emet: The Truest Act of Kindness

Taharah practices have deep historical roots. Beginning in Mishnaic times, specific procedures and customs evolved in various locations and through many generations. As a result, numerous traditions exist today. On Thursday, July 19, at 7:00 PM we will detail the ritual of preparing a body for burial, including a liturgical understanding of the prayers that are said while performing a taharah.

The books upon which these classes were created are all available from EKS Publishing Co. (www.ekspublishing.com)
